Hannah Spencer showing off her charity shop dress

On 10 June, Green Party MP Hannah Spencer caused a commotion when she implied the Reform politicians behind her were 'dirty' and 'grubby'. Given factors like the £5m 'gift' Nigel Farage tried to hide from the public it proved difficult to argue against this accusation. Instead, Reform's defenders accused the pro-equality Spencer of being 'draped in exquisite Gucci'. Now, she's taken her accusers to the cleaners:

Don't believe everything you read on right-wing medias, in papers and more. The shirt Hannah Spencer wore at PMQ's is a 15 year old charity shop find, not a £2,000 Gucci purchase like many would want you to believe! 😞

Why would people spread misinformation about Hannah? Hmm?

For reference, this what Lee Anderson and Sarah Pochin looked like when Spencer referred to the 'dirty grubbiness' behind her:

"There's plenty of dirty grubbiness behind me." Look at their faces. 😂 Well said Hannah.

In full, Spencer said:

Running a business as a plumber, I was well used to dealing with dirty grubbiness, and there is still plenty of that dirty grubbiness behind me.

As weâ??ve reported, the â??dirty grubbinessâ? comment was no doubt in reference to stories like these:

- Farage bought Â£1.4m house after undeclared Â£5m â??giftâ??
- Former Reform leader Gill sentenced to 10.5 years for taking bribes
- Reform councillor fined Â£40,000 for hiring â??illegalâ?? workers
- Reform candidate Goodwin took fat salary from Hungarian far-right
- Former Tory donors flock to Reform, including a massive donation from Thai-based billionaire
- Reform candidate became councillor despite antisemitism expos 

In response to Spencerâ??s attack, the â??dirty grubbinessâ?? defenders accused the Green MP of being stylish and well-dressed:

Nothing says â??fight the wealthy eliteâ? quite like delivering the lecture in a Gucci blouse. 😞

Now, Spencer has explained

So this shirt that I wore in Parliament this week, I got it about 15 years ago from Oxfam when I volunteered at Oxfam Originals. I love it. But something phenomenal happened this week when I wore it at Prime Ministerâ??s Questions. It underwent a remarkable transformation. It went from being a charity shop find to apparently being a Â£2,000 Gucci shirt. At least thatâ??s what the establishment are saying.

And it wouldnâ??t be like them to lie, would it? Why would they spread misinformation about me? Why would they do that? Why would they want to discredit me?

Anyway, to the charity shops, the vintage shops, anyone selling pre-loved stuff like this to find it a new home, thank you.

To Costa Brava, that very well-known designer brand. Thanks to you as well.

And to everyone else, send me stuff, because I know Jesus is out there turning water into wine, but hon, I'm out here turning charity shop finds into designer clobber.

And here's that Costa Brava label up close:

Hannah Spencer & "Gucci-gate" is fascinating. It's actually a cheap blouse from a charity shop BUT why can't a Green Party MP wear what she wants? Even a £1500 blouse? I'd bet many of the MP's Saville Row suits cost more than that? #sexism #shallow #FvckReform <https://t.co/Ry1AzYXtyu> pic.twitter.com/Tg4GXogB2x

Indefensible

It's clear why the Reformoids immediately went after Spencer. If they didn't, people might have started asking what is it that makes Reform so dirty and grubby?

When voters are debating the ethics of high fashion, they're not asking about Farage's links to the crypto industry or Reform's links to the fossil fuel industry or Richard Tice's tax arrangements or
