

Watch: Labour MP asked to name a single Burnham policy and fails

Description

default watermark

Labour

Labour's Manchester Rusholme MP Afzal Khan is on the campaign trail for Andy Burnham in the Makerfield by-election. Voters go to the polls tomorrow, 18 June 2026. The Canary asked him to name a policy that Burnham supports and got a lot of waffle in return.

Labour and U-Turnham?

In fact, Khan seemed unable or perhaps unwilling to mention any policy that Burnham stands for. But he's sure that Burnham has views on the policies and that the policies will be there. This quandary likely stems from the fact that any time Burnham has been associated with a policy that's any different from the diseased regime of Keir Starmer, he seems either to have ditched it or confirmed he won't scrap what Starmer has done.

Enjoy might not be the right word, but it's an illuminating watch:

View this post on Instagram

default watermark

A post shared by Cam Baillie (@cjmBaillie)

The Canary's Cameron Baillie looked in more detail at Burnham's Schrödinger track record:

View this post on Instagram

default watermark

A post shared by Cam Baillie (@cjmBaillie)

Vote Burnham for more of the same but with a less annoying face?

Featured image via HyphenOnline

By Skwawkbox

Source link

CATEGORY

1. News

POST TAG

1. asked
2. burnham
3. fails
4. labour
5. name
6. news
7. policy
8. single
9. watch

Category

1. News

default watermark